Seeming to glance furtively over his shoulder even though he's adequately prepared for any eventuality, this lawn ornament on the banks of the Gull River in Minden reflects the feelings of area residents concerned about the rising water. Situated outside the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garth Gammon, he waits and watches.

High water levels concern residents

Minden and area residents kept a wary eye on the Gull River this past week as exceptionally high water levels caused concern. The high water, which peaked Sunday afternoon, has now started to recede and areas which were inundated are beginning to drain.

According to Wayne Pacey, Chief Engineer of the Trent Severn Waterway System, the organization which controls the series of dams on the Gull River watershed, the high water levels are a result of too much rain falling in a short period with no place left in which to store it.

"The problem goes back to May 7 and 8," he explained, when an exceptionally high amount of rain fell in the Haliburton Highlands. Up to two and a half inches fell on Saturday and Sunday." That rain fell on a watershed which was almost filled to capacity by rainfall during the month of April and the water resulting from the spring run-off.

"The lakes were almost 90% filled when the rain came," Pacey noted. They quickly filled to over one hundred per cent leaving us with little option." He explained that lakes which were controlled by dams were subject to pressure from areas upstream where control could not be exercised. "Some of the lakes became 20% overfilled as a result of the rain," he stated. "Some of the lakes could handle the extra rainfall, others, such as Kennis Lake, could not."

Pacey explained that the problem at Kennis Lake was that the dam is constructed in a sandy area.

Water being held back in that lake could, if the level becomes too high, by-pass the dam and erode the area around the dam. The situation would mean a total loss of control.

As a result of this situation, five logs were taken out of the Kennis Lake dam, a condition which Pacey said was unusual. A smaller dam on Paint Lake south of Kennis is of older construction and the engineers are reluctant to put more than "four log pressure" on it from Kennis Lake. However, the usual circumstances this past week required it.

"We tried to control the flow as best we could," Pacey stated.

He said the Trent-Severn offices have received a large number of calls about the high water levels. Pacey said most people were simply concerned with what was happening and felt high water was a local problem. "We've been doing a lot of explaining over the past few weeks," he stated.

Due to subside

The high water on the Gull River in Minden peaked Sunday afternoon and has dropped several inches since then. Pacey reported Tuesday afternoon that a single layer of control logs had been inserted in the Twelve Mile Lake dam and more would be added as pressure on the system eased. "As more water has been moved through the system and our storage capacity starts to return, we'll be able to reduce the flow over the next few weeks," he stated. He wasn't sure how long it would take to bring the water levels back to "normal" but said they would be "acceptable" within a week, barring any heavy rainfall.

"The weather is a big factor," Pacey pointed out. More rain could return the high water situation which existed earlier this week.

Garbage collection proposal offered

Saying he had come to solve the municipality's garbage problem, Haven Cook of Haliburton approached council at the meeting May 11. Cook sketched out an idea which he said would work on a county wide basis in its most efficient phase.

Cook's plan, which he said required the participation of the two largest municipalities to be feasible in the beginning, is to sell county municipalities large metal containers to be set at road junctions. The portable containers, which Cook estimated he could make at a cost of about $1500 apiece, would eliminate the need for several smaller dumps. The bins would be trucked to various dumps throughout the county, when all county municipalities finally participate in the system.

As each dump is filled, another would be used, thereby averaging the longevity of each municipality's sites across the entire county. Cook also suggested using old gravel pits as land-fill sites when dumps have been filled.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas asked Cook if his system included compaction, one of the methods to prolong dump life suggested by the recently released Waste Management Study commissioned by the county.

Cook replied the prohibitive cost of a compactor precluded him having one. "Compaction is the real problem," Pergolas told Cook.

Councillor Gary Kenney told Cook Anson, Hindon and Minden is primarily concerned with discovering new dump sites. He said dumping garbage in another Barrels of toxic chemicals which, when inhaled, could be fatal, were discovered in Stanhope township's Maple Lake dump May 2, by township employee Bob Howe.

Fortunately, Howe, his first day on the job, correctly identified the barrels as potentially harmful and contacted Ministry of Environment officials. A firm from Barrie skilled in cases such as this, removed the barrels from the dump

"at considerable expense to the township," said Reeve Harry Davis.

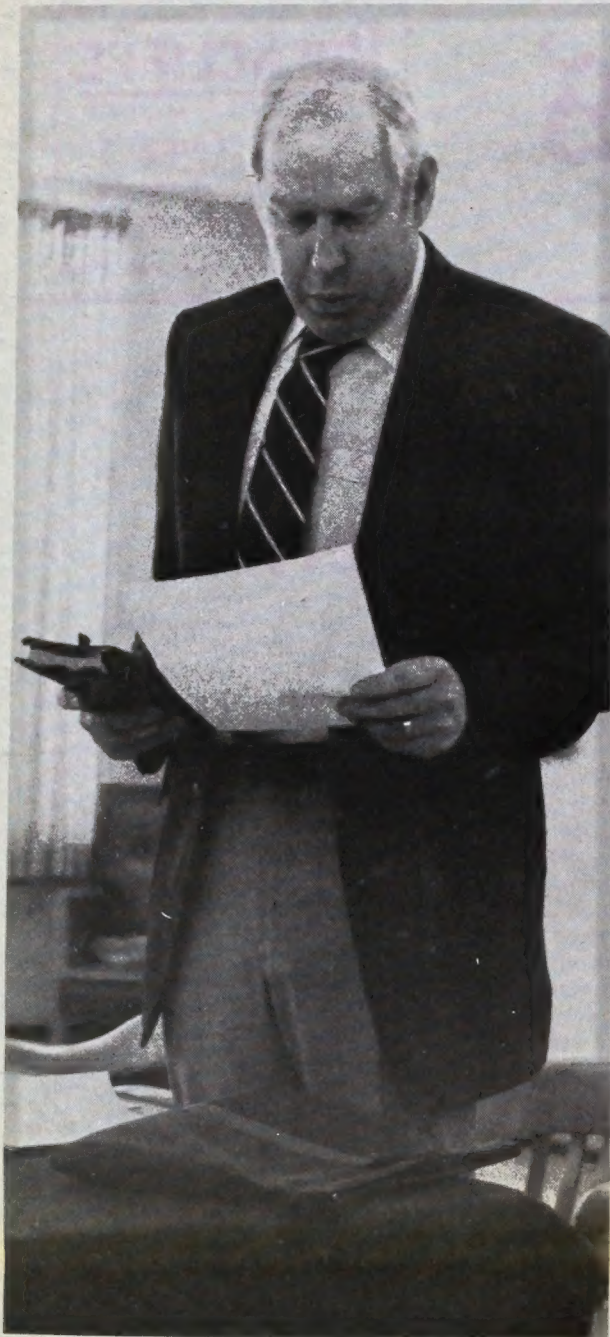

"Apparently one or two inhalations of this chemical can kill you," said Davis. The municipality had to pay $350 to $400 to have the chemicals removed. Davis suggested this may not be an unique case, small companies using small, unattended dumps for disposing of unwanted chemicals.

Ministry of Environment

officials said this incident is the first of this type to their knowledge. Ian Grey, the district officer for industrial abatement said the chemical is called polymeric diisocyanate, which when mixed, provides insulation for freezers and other uses. He said the company disposing of chemicals in this fashion, runs the risk of a $25,000 fine for the first offence and $50,000 for the second. He said the ministry is not aware of the company responsible.

property owners report varying amounts of damage and inconvenience as a result of the high water. A large portion of Anson Street was underwater for most of last week. The river flowed over North Water Street in a number of locations as well. A back road, by the arena, normally kept closed, was opened to provide dry access for residents in the area.

Elsewhere, the high water lifted docks from their moorings and sent them floating away. Fields close to the river were flooded and access roads leading to cottage areas were underwater though few were made impassable by the high-water.

In Minden, numerous residents reported flooded basements, most of the seepage from the saturated ground. Concern about the erosion resulting from the fast flow of the water or waves thrown up by passing power boats has also been reported.

And, in what must be a unique case of voyeurism, police report that a woman in one cottage in the area complained about a man peeking in her bedroom window while she was dressing. He had floated up to the cottage in a canoe.

Meeting

Because of the growing concern about the water levels and the demands from residents that something be done to see it does not become a continuing problem, the municipality has called for a special public meeting for next Monday evening at the township offices. Individuals with concerns about the high water levels are invited to attend. The meeting, which will be held in the council chambers, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Canada Day meeting

A meeting will be held this evening (Wednesday) to organize various activities for a Canada Day celebration in Minden. Service clubs and organizations from throughout the municipality have been invited to send representatives. As well, an invitation has been extended to any member of the community interested in helping to organize the day's activities.

At an initial meeting last week, it was decided to hold a community picnic to make Canada Day. Volunteer organizers for the day are Minden Nursery Play representative's Pat Balcombe and Robin Bailey. For more information, they can be contacted at 286-1281 or 286-3332, respectively.

municipality would not solve the problem of future dump space. The councillor also wondered about the agreement the county municipalities would have and the result of a terminated agreement and a full dump.

"All you're proposing is a carrier service," said the councillor. "Our problem is not going to be solved by a carrier service." Both he and Pergolas said compaction would make the idea far more attractive to the municipality. Pergolas and Kenney also pointed out that if the containers were purchased outright from Cook, an idea neither of them favoured, the municipality could easily tender the trucking responsibilities.

Both council members said they liked the idea Cook put forward and said once a system of compaction was integrated into the plan, and a detailed breakdown of costs included, they could consider the idea.

Reeve Lyle McKnight said there is no doubt a carrier system will have to be instituted in the future. He pointed out the Waste Management Study prepared by Greer Galloway noted there were few potential sites for future expansion. Dumps could be located far from the convenient sites residents now enjoy.

The reeve also told council the carrier system had been previously presented to an earlier council by the trucker with the District of Muskoka contract.

Council encouraged Cook to work on the details and present the scheme to council again.

Cook had presented his plan to Dysart council at the May 9 meeting. That council informed the Haliburton resident provisions for the service are not part of the 1983 budget.

Children killed

A tragic accident Sunday took the life of two Toronto children on Highway 35, north of Minden. The two were riding a three-wheeled all terrain cycle near the intersection of Mountainview Drive. They apparently drove the machine on to the highway directly into the path of an oncoming southbound car.

While the driver of the vehicle, Debra Cox, 27, of Anson township, swerved to avoid striking the ATC, but was unsuccessful.

Killed as a result of the collision is Gregory Fallahay, 11 and Howard Jamieson, 10 both of Scarborough. The pair were staying at the Fallahay family cottage for the weekend.

The driver of the car was treated at Minden hospital for minor injuries.

The coroner attending at the scene of the accident was Dr. Antony Holliday-Rhodes. The investigating officer is Constable David Rogers.

Falls from barn

A 61 year old Stanhope township man is dead following an accident Friday. The man, Wesley Crawford, was dismantling a barn on Green Lake Road in Guilford.

The structure, which had been damaged by heavy winds a week earlier, apparently collapsed while he was working on it and he was crushed.

It was uncertain exactly when the mishap occurred as the man was working alone. He was discovered by two nearby residents at approximately 3:30 p.m.

A post-mortem examination conducted at a Peterborough Civic hospital confirmed the cause of death.

Dr. Blair Pierce was the coroner. Constable Glen Irving was the investigating officer.

Bike mishap

A 14 year old Minden youth spent the night in hospital after he was thrown from his 10 speed bicycle on South Lake Road May 14. Dale Ripley of the Minden area, was found unconscious at the road-edge at about 11 p.m. He was kept at the hospital for observation.

The investigating officer was Constable Dennis Potter.

TVO signal may reach Minden

With the extension of Television Ontario (TVO) service to Muskoka next year, residents in Minden and the west side of the county could have access to off-air signal. Approval of the new transmitter was announced May 2 by the Canadian Radio-Television Telecommunications Commission.

The map accompanying the TVO announcement, showed all of Anson, Hindon, half of Minden townships, all of Stanhope and most Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone townships within the "grade B" transmission area. The transmitter will be located south of Huntsville.

According to the TVO press release, the new transmitter is designed to serve the residents of Muskoka and is being installed following an intensive lobbying effort by groups of residents in the area. TVO is now available in Muskoka, as in Haliburton and Minden, to those who subscribe to the local cable service.

Since the area of western Haliburton County which will have access to the signal will only be within the grade "B" sector the quality of the reception will not be guaranteed. TVO officials note the signal will extend into this area but weather conditions, location of aerial and other factors could affect the quality of the reception.

editorial

Minden and area residents have watched with interest and some alarm as the waters of Gull River rose and, in a number of places, spilled over its banks. The damage done by the high water could be described as relatively minor, but to the individuals whose property was in danger, the threat posed by the rising water was no small concern.

The Trent-Severn authority has blamed the high water conditions on the heavy rain and lack of storage capacity left in the system. Many residents feel the responsibility for the flooded conditions rests with waterway authority.

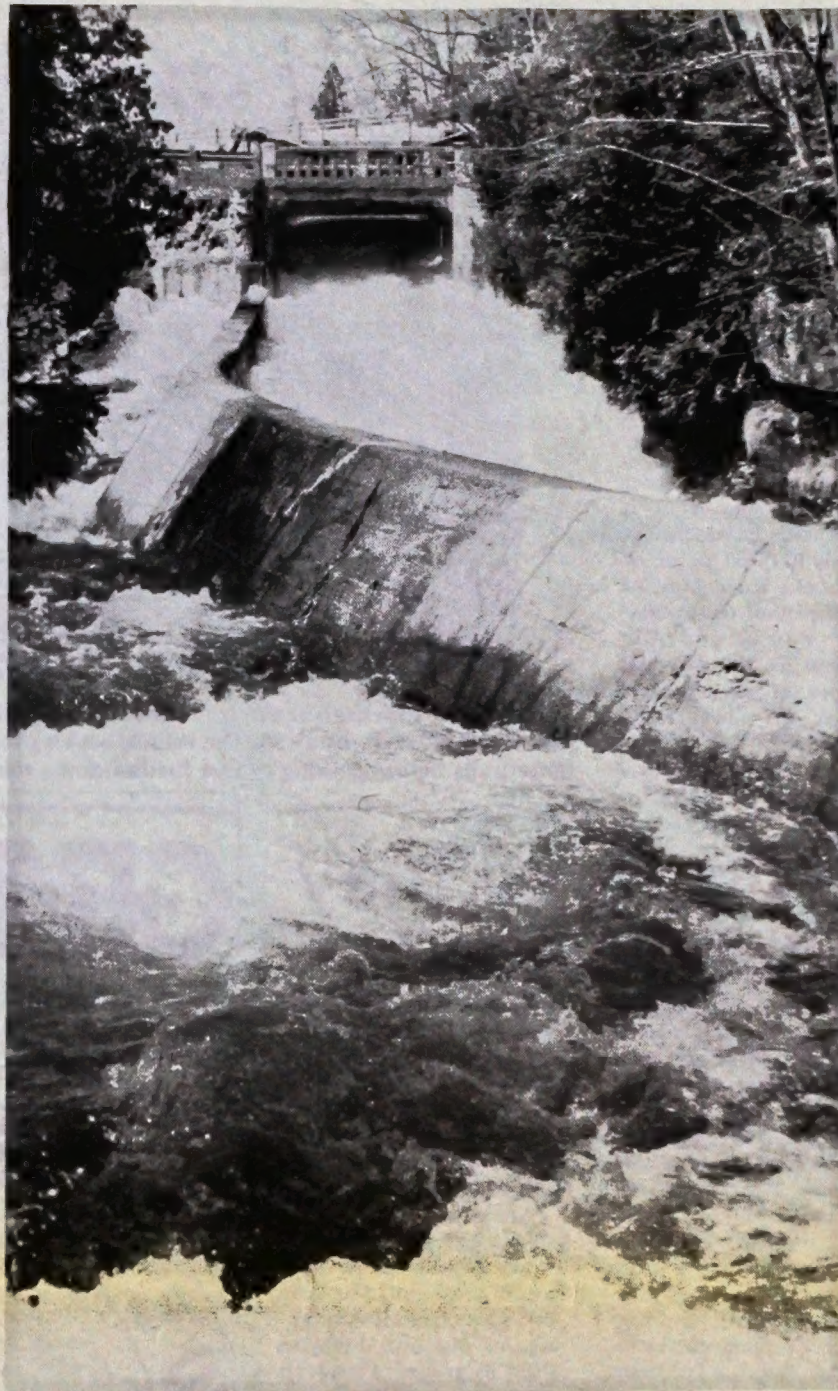

The question of responsibility could become an important issue, particularly if damage caused by rising water should be extensive. Insurance companies, for instance, could be keenly interested in whether flooding is the result of an Act of God or mismanagement of water resources.

The lakes in the Haliburton Highlands serve as reservoir lakes for the Trent Canal system. Management of water levels over the years has been geared to ensuring an adequate supply of water is available for the craft using the locks and canals. When the canal system was first built, over a century ago, there was little development in the Highlands. High water and subsequent flooding did not result in extensive property damage. At that time as well, the Trent Canal system was an important route for economies development.

Today the situation has changed. The once virgin reservoir lakes have become ringed with cottages, development, such as Minden, has grown along the banks of the river. While the commercial nature of the Trent Canal system has changed from a route for transporting goods to mainly a tourist attraction, it still has important economic impact.

However, we wonder if, in managing the reservoir lakes to ensure adequate an adequate flow for tourist traffic on the canal, the Trent-Severn authorities haven't placed property in the Highlands in greater jeopardy than need be?

It is almost certain that question will never be answered to everyone's satisfaction, if indeed one "right" answer could be found. In the meantime, property owners will have to be content to leave control of the water levels to the authorities in Peterborough and hope, with the co-operation of the weather, that the Gull River can be contained within its proscribed banks.

For centuries, man has known of the harmful effects of "lead poisoning". In recent years, however, the less dramatic effects of chronic exposure to low levels of lead are becoming better known. The evidence seems clear that even low levels of lead contamination can cause general ill health, miscarriages, and learning disabilities. The only prudent course of action would be to reduce human exposure to lead as much as possible.

Federal Environment Minister John Roberts is proposing to do just that, by limiting the amount of lead permitted in gasoline. This would not be an unprece-

Job programs

-by Bill Scott, M.P.-

On May 11, the Department of Employment and Immigration sent each Member of Parliament a background paper on the consolidation of the currently existing twelve job creation programs into four main streams. This paper attempts to explain the announcement made earlier in the House by the Minister, Hon. Lloyd Axworthy.

The four new programs will be as follows:

The ACCESS Program

The purpose of ACCESS will be to provide a strong, unified focus to human resource development. Through wage subsidies, ACCESS will provide employment opportunities by providing internships through private sector organizations for those who are experiencing difficulties in accessing the permanent labour market. The ACCESS Program will consolidate the Program for the Employment Disadvantaged; Portable Wage Subsidy Program; the New Technology Employment Program; Summer Canada internships for 1984; and the Canada Community Services Projects Program.

Job Corps Program

The purpose of Job Corps will be to assist disadvantaged workers to develop the skills and work habits they need to become competitive, productive and employed members of the regular labour force. This will be achieved by funding projects that provide temporary job opportunities for participants along with appropriate assessment of personal and career needs and co-ordinated provision

The three leaves of spring

They say "good things come in threes" and that is certainly the case at this time of the year. Roads throughout our region are graced with the colourful floral display offered by Ontario's provincial flower, the trillium.

The forest floor is covered with the white and red or purple trillium with the break created by rural roads through heavy forested areas seeming to provide ideal conditions for their growth.

There are many species of trilliums, but only three are found in this part of Ontario. The most common is the White Trillium, named in Latin, Trillium grandiflorum, the Red or Purple Trillium, Trillium erectum and the Painted Trillium, Trillium undulatum. Also known cernuum, although its range tends to be farther north in the province.

The trillium is aptly named, carrying its Latin into the English. The 'tri' portion of the name refers to the numerous triple aspects of the plant. There are three leaves on the stem, three petals make up the flower and three sepals, the smaller leaves which grow immediately behind the petals. The second part of its name indicates the flower is a member of the lily family. The plant has also been known as the Trinity lily.

The white trillium is the most common and is just now coming into bloom. It will flower for about a month. As it nears the end of its flowering period the petals take on a pinkish hue which sometimes confuses people who think they may have discovered another species of trillium.

The white trillium was considered to be a blossom of peace and is rightfully associated with the fresh beginning of the season in which it blooms. It prefers the rich deciduous forests of southern Ontario, springing to its full glory before the leafy canopy closes in overhead.

In 1937, the trillium was selected as Ontario's provincial wildflower. Much to the chagrin of gardeners today, it is interesting to note that another common Ontario flower, the dandelion, was being considered at the same time as a possible contender for the position of the province's emblem. Both flowers qualified as they could be found growing in most parts of the province. However, the trillium won out when it was learned that the dandelion had been imported from Europe. The legislators chose the native trillium.

Since then, the province has developed the trillium emblem through a number of stylized changes. It appears, in one form or another on just about every provincial sign, vehicle and piece of stationery.

The flower of the white trillium is two to four inches across on a stalk 12 to 18 inches high. The white flower is sometimes streaked with green which is caused by minute bacteria-like organisms. Its range includes Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, southern Ontario, western New England and south.

Red or Purple Trillium

Though of the same family the red trillium is an entirely separate species. One might call it the black sheep of the family or the stinker, because that is exactly what it is.

The red trillium is also known as the musk trillium. The name was given to it because of the smell the flower gives off, not unlike rotting meat. The pungent odour matches the deep red or purple colouring in attempting to mimic decaying carrion.

The masquerade is intentional however, as the flower relies on carrion or meat eating insects to do its pollination for it. The colour and odor attract the insects to the flower, which, when they depart, take pollen with them to the next flower to which they are attracted.

The red trillium occasionally produces an albino flower which is creamy white in colour but the ovary of the flower remains bright red. The red trillium generally opens earlier than the white trillium. The range for the red trillium is Michigan, Ontario, Quebec to Pennsylvania, north Delaware and through the Appalachian Mountains south to Georgia.

Painted Trillium

The showiest of the three most common trilliums in this part of Ontario, the painted trillium is also the rarest.

The painted trillium is somewhat smaller than the other two species mentioned above, and is most noted for the red blaze at the base of each flower petal. The colouring gives the flower a painted look, hence the name.

While the red and white trilliums prefer the rich forest floor, the painted trillium is most often found in more acid areas closer to bogs and swamps.

The range of the painted trillium includes Manitoba, Ontario, eastern Quebec, south to Wisconsin, Michigan, Pennsylvania, northern New Jersey and in the Appalachian Mountains south to Georgia.

Thou shalt not pick

Every child in Ontario is aware of the first rule of the forest, don't pick a trillium. It is an understanding which has been handed down from generation to generation and has paid large dividends. Forests in most parts of Ontario now sport bright spring colours thanks to the colourful trilliums and the people who chose to enjoy them in their natural setting rather than insisting on bringing them home.

The embargo on picking trilliums is actually an unwritten "law" in Ontario. There is no regulation in this province which prohibits the picking of the flower, but as one conservationist has pointed out, any law would be virtually unenforceable anyway. He suggests the unwritten code of the forest which places trilliums on the "untouchable" list has worked better than any law or regulation the authorities could have enacted. Interestingly, in the State of New York, where the state flower is the rose, it is an offense to pick a trillium.

The restriction on picking trilliums is well-founded. The trillium plants propagate by seed or splitting of bulbs, but it is a slow process. When seeds fall on favourable ground, it takes up to seven years for the plant to produce a flower. The trillium will continue to flower each year thereafter. (The bulb splitting results in the clump of trilliums often seen in the forest).

Picking a trillium usually means the removal of the three leaves. Without leaves, the root has no method to gather energy from the sun and as a result the plant dies.

Fortunately most people have abided by the "no pick" dictum and trilliums flourish throughout Ontario. Their longevity, they bloom for almost a month, the time of year they appear and their colourful brashness at the side of rural Ontario roads make this one of the most enjoyable seasons of the year.

from the chamber

The great shop and deal in the Highlands campaign is scheduled for launching at the Kinsmen Home & Vacation Show being held at Haliburton Arena on June 10-11-12. The central part of the campaign is a Discount Coupon book offering dollars off or free merchandise of service when an additional purchase is made. Two thousand coupon books are being printed and sold and any income derived from the sale of the books is being used towards promotional activities for the program.

Posters identifying participating members will be supplied, special buttons will identify staff of the participants, and souvenir book matches and buttons are also being prepared. The campaign is designed to bring people into local business and make them more aware of the products and facilities they have to offer.

In order to meet deadlines we must have commitments from all participating members by this weekend so please call the Chamber office-286-1760-if you are interested in this and we have not yet contacted you. Do it today!

Directories in the mail

Mailing out 15,000 Haliburton Highlands directories to property owners may not sound like a huge job-when you say it fast-but it certainly is. The biggest job has been compiling the mailing list from the voters lists, sorting them into postal codes and getting them onto labels. This was done with the assistance of Charlie and Reg Tyler and their Commodore computers. Next was putting the directories along with brochures of participating members into the specially printed envelopes. This was done with the assistance of the Arc Industries Workshop in Haliburton who are most anxious to do these kinds of jobs for any business in the area.

Back at our office everyone is pitching in to get the labels on the envelopes and get them to the post office. They are on their way and we hope everyone benefits from the considerable effort put forth by everyone involved.

Coin program underway

Ten thousand commemorative coins arrived at the County office this week and are being declared legal tender for the balance of the year for special resolution at this week's County Council meeting. The first silver coin will be presented to the Honourable Claude Bennett, Minister of Housing who will be in attendance to unveil a plaque which officially designates our full county status.

The first distribution of the coins will begin at that time at a table in front of the Registry office, and as soon as possible thereafter we will be making them available at outlets throughout the county.

Please remember that there are 10 specially minted coins distributed throughout the full order. A sample of the mint mark is displayed at the Chamber office and anyone finding one may redeem it for $25.00. Frankly they are worth more than that to collectors so we don't expect to see many turned in to us.

Be sure to get your coins before they run out. Ten thousand may sound like a lot, but when you consider our county hosts over 100,000 visitors at a time in July and August they certainly will run out before the summer is over.

High water problems

Flooding is a very real concern in many parts of our county at the moment and even more so downstream where we are presently dumping all of this excess water. It tends to certainly show up some of the dangerous inadequacies in the reservoir system for the Trent which makes up our lake system. The Trent Canal people are doing the best they can with a system that was not designed to cope with the demands we are all placing on it. Unfortunately for many that is just not good enough.

When the Water Levels Committee first met with the Trent Authority to address the problem of low water levels in late summer they found that the lakes were only being filled to 85% of capacity in the spring with the other 15% being allowed for flood control. The committee insisted then that if it's a reservoir system that it must be filled when the water is available, and flood control must be handled in another way. To date the government has not looked at alternate methods of addressing flood controls and we are in a dangerous position at the moment as a result.

If you are upset about water levels now it will do little good to complain to the Trent Canal employees. As we said they are doing everything they can with what they have to work with. As individuals you also have limited impact. Each lake or river system should organize an association to speak on their behalf. Through the Water Levels Committee these groups may be able to create the pressure to go after some solutions to this annual problem of either too much or not enough water.

Hart Lodge changes hands

Another era in the history of Haliburton County's resort industry ended this weekend when Hart Lodge came under new ownership. Hart Lodge was named after the family of the same name and Eileen Crawford (nee Hart) had carried on the hospitality tradition established by her parents. Eileen's daughter Cheryl, also grew up on the property and was actively working with her mother in the resort's administration. Eileen was always very active in promoting tourism for our area. She had served on the Chamber board, the Highway 35 Association and is presently on the Board of Directors of Resorts Ontario.

New owner's John Mateer and Robert White took possession of the facilities this past weekend and have already dropped in to the Chamber office to say hello to us. We know they will prosper on this excellent property and we hope you will join with us in welcoming them and wishing them well. We will miss the Crawfords as active members and we wish them nothing but the best in their future as well.

dented step - the existing limits for leaded gasoline in the U.S. are one-third those of Canada, and some countries such as Japan have banned leaded gasoline altogether. Mr. Roberts hasn't yet said by how much he will reduce Canada's limits, but he has asked for public comments on the new guidelines.

At present, Canadian automobiles spew out 17 million pounds of lead annually accounting for 62% of the lead in our environment. European studies have shown that from 27 - 50% of the lead in people's blood can be traced to automobile exhausts. Since airborne lead also contaminates food crops, the contribution of automobiles is very significant indeed.

Lead is added to gasoline to improve its octane rating so that the car engine won't "knock". There are environmentally-safe substitutes available, although there will be some costs associated with the conversion. There are also savings, since unleaded gasoline generally gives better mileage and better engine wear.

If you would like to help rid our environment of this toxic substance, you could write to Mr. John Roberts, Minister of Environment, Ottawa, K1A 0A6 to urge him to follow through with his ideas. You can also take more immediate steps. All cars can burn unleaded gasoline, which is now available at every service station. By paying a few cents more for unleaded gasoline, you are helping to protect the health of us all.

of counselling, training (through the National Training Program) and other support services. Job Corps will be closely linked to the ACCESS Program in its support of human resources development. Participants will be able to move from job corps projects, through ACCESS to regular labour market participation. The Job Corps Program will incorporate part of the Local Employment Assistance Program and the Youth Job Corps component of Canada Community Development Projects.

The New NEED Program

The purpose of the New NEED Program will be to create jobs in areas of high unemployment. It will also respond to emergencies such as unemployment caused by major industry shut-downs in dependent communities. Participants will include laid-off workers, U.I. exhautees, U.I. recipients, social assistance recipients, returning students, and members of those communities and industries designated by the Industrial and Labour Adjustment Program as experiencing high levels of unemployment caused by large-scale industrial change. The New NEED Program will consolidate the original NEED Program, announced in October 1982; the job creation program under Section 38 of the Unemployment Insurance Act, the Community Employment Program; Summer Canada projects for 1984; and components of the Canada Development Projects Program.

The LEAD Program

LEAD will be an on-going program. Its purpose is to contribute to long-term community-based employment persists along with low economic growth. It will provide skills within the community to undertake community planning and project management.

The LEAD Program will provide support to LEAD corporations and LEAD projects. LEAD corporations funding will enable selected communities to establish and manage local development corporations which make investments in, and provide counselling and other advice regarding possible local business projects with a potential to create jobs. LEAD projects funding will provide support for the establishment of long or short-term community-sponsored businesses or projects which will provide or lead to on-going employment within the local community.

The Local Employment Assistance and Development Program will be made up of the following existing programs: Local Economic Development Assistance Program and components of Canada Community Development Projects and of Local Employment Assistance Program.

I think it is about time that the federal government revise its employment development strategy to bring it into line with the reality of today's job market. Whether or not this consolidation will produce more jobs and lower unemployment remains to be seen. I would hope the extension of the NEED Program to laid-off workers, U.I. recipients and returning students will at least make the program more accessible.

Music, art and gymnastics were combined Wednesday evening to herald the opening of the children's art show at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden. The show, Sights and Sounds '83, features the work of students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School.

The opening night festivities included a gymnastics display, co-ordinated by Dave McKinlay and presented by the students on the tumbling mats and the balance beam. As well, members of the grade eight band, under the direction of Glen Carter, entertained the audience.

The walls of the gallery and common room were covered with the best art of the students and displayed a rich vein of talent in our community. Many media and styles of expression were used by the youngsters and they are to be congratulated for their efforts. Of particular interest were the large paper mache sculptures located throughout the two display rooms as well as the intriguing collection of monsters which inhabited a fabricated Mount Minden.

During the evening, scholarships to the Haliburton School of Fine Arts were announced. The scholarships entitle a student to attend a one week course of his or her choice at the school this coming summer. Among those receiving the awards were: Samuel Little of kindergarten; Melissa Grozelle and Jamie Kent, grade one; Carrie Warder and Jeremy Phillips, grade two; Jamie Dollo, grade four; Tania Little, grade five; Dianne Garbutt, Corrine Wood and Misti Campbell, grade six; Tyna Hie and Sherry Sawyer, grade seven; and Sharon Thornett, Corry Ziorjen and Stephanie O'Brien, grade eight.

Stanhope hears festival report from Chamber

Bob Jennings, the owner of Sandy Lane of Halls Lake in Stanhope township and a director of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, outlined some of the plans for this year's Harvest Festival celebrations to Stanhope council. The Chamber of Commerce promotion was presented during the municipality's monthly meeting, May 11.

Jennings told council the chamber has developed a new scheme to insure greater success for the events during the festival. "Last year nobody made any money but it was a good time," he said. Most of the municipalities involved in the festival, Anson, Hindon and Minden, Dysart et al, Glamorgan and Stanhope, failed to make a profit. Stanhope ended up with an inventory of about $300. "This promotion should change all that," said Jennings.

With inventory for the event already established and an in depth advertising program, the participating municipalities should realize a profit Jennings said. He also approached council about turning last year's nights of festivities into a full day of programs for this year.

The resort owner said the chamber has set aside $2,500 for the 1983 festival to draw more tourists into the area during the four weekends. About $800 of the budget will be spent locally. Also included in the advertising plans are advertisements in southern papers and a contest on CBC radio, the winners of which will receive free weekends during the festival. Other prizes are available as well.

"They (CBC) have promoted Muskoka along the same lines and agreed to do the same for Haliburton County," said Jennings. The contest will run about a month and a half before the festival on the program Ontario Morning.

Jennings added that ticket prices have dropped from $8 for all four evenings to $5.

Of the three communities involved with the Harvest Festival, one has its day of activities arranged. Glamorgan township, with the theme of Klondike Jubilee, has organized a pancake breakfast, a softball tournament, garden competitions, talent contest, handicrafts and dancing. The theme has been changed from last year's German oriented event.

Stanhope remains with the French theme, Anson, Hindon and Minden stays with its Caribbean theme and Haliburton has been changed to an English music hall presentation.

The Harvest Festival will take place on four consecutive Saturdays. Glamorgan begins on September 10, Anson, Hindon and Minden is next on September 17, Stanhope is on September 24 and Dysart has the last day on October 1.

Student applications approved for township

Stanhope township was successful in its bid for student employment through the Summer Canada '83 program sponsored by the federal government. Anson, Hindon and Minden and Dysart et al did not manage to get approval for their projects. It has been suggested the failure of students registering at the Canada Manpower Centre in Haliburton, through which the project's administrators determined need, was responsible. Gerald Bain, clerk-treasurer of Stanhope, said the municipi-pal office directed students to register at Manpower which may account for the township's success.

Summer Canada '83 provided $5,040 funds enough for Stanhope to hire a project manager at $225 a week and two project workers at $150. The township had requested funding for five employees.

The projects the three will undertake will be a beach house and a picnic shelter for the Halls Lake swimming area.

New road superintendent
Stanhope council bid roads superintendent

Marvin Brown a fond farewell at last council meeting.

Brown is moving to British Columbia at the end of May.

Council has selected Harold Barjerow, a municipal roads employee for the past 14 years to replace Brown. Barjerow is the grader operator.

Clerk-treasurer Gerald Bain said the position was filled by promoting Barjerow, which fortunately, due to government cut-backs in subsidies for roads departments, stayed off an inevitable lay-off of one of the roads employees.

Nurse Jane - a delightful comedy

It was somewhat disconcerting to walk into the HHSS auditorium Friday evening, ten minutes before curtain time, to find the only seats left were at the back, away at the back. The occasion was the opening performance of the Highlands Little Theatre production of Nurse Jane Goes To Hawaii.

At previous performances, the last row of seats to be occupied were usually found a little better than half way back. The full house Friday is an indication that the local little theatre is perhaps gaining the acceptance that it has deserved but missed over the past few years. The cast and crew of the latest production did not disappoint the capacity audience Friday with this rollicking good-natured comedy set, in all places, Toronto. Maureen O'Hara directed.

The story recounts the comings and goings of a number of mismatched couples in an apartment. A husband, Edgar Chisholm, played by Jim Andrews, believing that his wife has gone away for several days, invites a somewhat batty but adorable 'friend' Vivien Bliss, played by Betty Perugino, home for what appears to be a torrid weekend. Unknown to Chisholm, his wife Doris, played by Heather Scully, has not departed as expected. The opening scenes offer an interesting lesson in staging as characters come and go without becoming aware of the other's presence.

Bliss is an author of Harlequin-type novels and has selected this illicit weekend as a basis for a new book. Projecting the scene to the more exotic setting of Hawaii, with tape recorder in hand throughout the play, she records her observations and snippets of dialogue for her new book, from which the play's title is taken.

Of course, Edgar and Vivien are discovered by Doris who is quite properly outraged, but who must then retreat to a defensive position when a former lover Bill Scant, played by Curtis Eastmure, shows up. Like the cowardly lion, Scant seems unable to face the real world and spend a great deal of his time skulking around the stage with a pair of pantyhose pulled over his head to disguise his identity.

Scant's wife, Betty, played by Brenda Ellis, who also happens to be Vivien's editor, arrives on the scene to add to the mayhem.

Finally, two children, now young adults, played by Bonnie Fitzgerald and Craig Bugden arrive at the apartment looking for their long lost parents. Both are unaware exactly who among the assorted characters are their parents and sorting out the tangled web gives the players ample opportunity for comedy and juicy material for Vivien's tape recorder.

All members of the cast turned in an excellent performance with newcomer Craig Bugden demonstrating a strong stage presence and acting ability. Curtis Eastmure, as the nutty, insecure Scant and Betty Perugino also turned in solid performance.

It was a pleasant surprise to see the local group performing a Canadian play and one of very recent vintage, having premiered in 1980.

While the large crowds are a credit to the ability and growing reputation of the Highlands Little Theatre, they also point out the lack of proper facilities in the county for such productions. The high school gymnasium has poor acoustics, and many of the lines were left adrift in mid-air somewhere between the footlights and the back of the hall.

Assisting in the production were: director Maureen O'Hara and crew Lila Mitchell, Miriam Barnes, Wayne Henderson, Dale McConnell, Mike Collins, Bill Barnes, Laura Medley, Lora Woods and Caryl Douglas.

Looking back

Richard Hughes, Crown Land Agent, adds another chapter to his series of reports on development along the Bobcaygeon Road with this summary prepared in January 1, 1863.

...One or two school sections have been established on the Road during the year 1862, and the old ones are becoming more efficient.

Several missionary stations have been established by the different denominations, and services take place at each of the different villages along the road, every sabbath.

Lime has been burned at Gull River, of the best quality from chrystalized limestone, found in the immediate neighborhood.

Brick clay exists in large quantities on the road at Gull River, and it is the intention of persons who have purchased farms and moved out for the purpose of making brick, to commence in the Spring. All the bricks made use of there at present, being carried at least 50 miles over a rough road.

As to the lands sold to actual settlers since the establishment of this Agency in January 1859, I beg to say that about a thousand lots have been sold, containing over ninety thousand acres, and that when the final payments are made on these lands, the whole expenses of the construction of the Bobcaygeon Road, now completed to the North branch of the South Muskoka, a distance of seventy miles North of Bobcaygeon, and the cost of the survey of most of the townships now opened up on each side of the road, will have been paid and a new country opened up, which was hitherto been altogether misunderstood.

Three saw mills are now in course of erection in the townships of Stanhope and Minden, and a saw mill and grist mill have been completed on Gull River, in the immediate neighborhood of the town plot of Minden, by Amos Moore, and a saw mill is now in successful operation on the Burnt River in the third concession of the township of Snowdon, by H.W. Casey; and these with other mills before erected are causing a steady increase in the settlement of the surrounding townships.

Lumbering operations are now being carried on extensively in the neighborhood, and the great traffic over the road has had the effect of cutting it up in some places, so as to make it difficult for heavily loaded teams to travel a reasonable distance each day. I would respectfully suggest that a small sum be appropriated to make slight alterations where required, and to repair the road where statute labor is insufficient.

During the year 1862 two contracts have been completed on this road, one between the Peterson Line and Bell's Line and the other North of Bell's Line, the latter about twenty miles in extent; two bridges have been built, one at Cedar Narrows and the other on the North branch of the South Muskoka River.

Tenders opened

Tenders were opened last April 28 for the flood plane mapping which will bring Anson, Hindon and Minden much closer to the end goal of an official plan.

The proposals ranged from Paragon Engineering's $18,875, the single uninvited tender in the group to AJ Robinson and Associated $51,786, including their most expensive extra work package.

The tenders are:

The Proctor and Redfern Group total estimated cost $22,500 plus additional work $6,500.

Paragon Engineering Limited estimated cost $11,975 and optional items $6,900.

The Greer Galloway Group total estimated cost $24,600 and additional work $1,000.

Totten, Sims, Hubicki Associated Limited total estimate $32,900 and additional work $5,400.

Dillon Consulting Engineers and Planners total estimate $18,000 and additional work $1,600.

A.J. Robinson and Associates Incorporated estimated cost $39,630 and three quotes for additional work $1,732, $6,400, $12,156.

Kilborn Limited estimated cost $40,260.

Reeve Lyle McKnight stressed that decisions could not be made without Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) input. The ministry is funding the project 90 percent.

The matter was referred to the liason committee for further discussion.

Well-wishers attended the Minden hospital's open house May 11 to inspect the new equipment donated by various clubs and the renovations recently completed.

Did you know?

The Haliburton County Farmer's Association has about 70 members. It represents the interest of local live stock owners and crop producers. It also provides a medium for discussion of problems common to its members and their solutions.

Some of the association's goals are to promote improvement in the quality of food produced in the county and to sponsor projects which will be helpful in marketing as well.

The association holds monthly meetings, field days and tours which are also open to the general public. There is renewed interest in agriculture locally and this is reflected in the growing attendance at meetings and tours. (Even torrential rains did not deter 50 people from attending the association's last meeting at the sheep farm of Ted and Mini Carson in Lochlin). In the summer the association sponsors a Farmers Market in Minden, where farm fresh, locally grown, food can be purchased.

For further information on the association contact the secretary, Maureen Warburton, 457-1299.

Do you have a problem, need information? Call your Haliburton County Information Centre, 457-2733. Open Monday to Friday, 9:40 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Co-ordinator appointed

After more than two years of work by a local advisory board, the position of co-ordinator of children's services for Haliburton County has been filled and an office opened to serve the public. The office is located in Haliburton Village in the family services building.

This project receives 100 percent funding through the Peterborough office of the Ministry of Community and Social Services. Supervision of the programme is provided by the local Board of Education.

The aim of the programme is to be a positive support to families in securing service for children with special needs. Services vary in scope from aid for infant stimulation to teenage counselling.

Michael Wood, a graduate of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and the University of Waterloo, has returned to the county to take up the position of co-ordinator. One of Michael's first duties will be to make families and organizations aware of the variety of services that are available. Direct assistance will be arranged for families as referrals are received.

Council briefs

Trainee grant

Anson, Hindon and Minden has received a grant from Canada Employment and Immigration to hire a student as a by-law enforcement officer trainee.

The grant of $2156 covers wages for the trainee for 14 weeks. Each summer for three years, the trainee will be instructed in the various duties of a by-law enforcement officer. Clerk-treasurer Elinor Burke suggested the trainee could eventually be hired by the municipality.

RRAP program

The Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation, the over-seers of the Residential Rehabilitation Assistance Program (RRAP) sent a letter outlining the next two steps before the municipality is an accredited agent for the program.

First the agreement between the municipality and CMHC will be reviewed at a meeting and the federal agency will conduct a seminar to explain the funding.

Burke told council CMHC had hoped to have the program underway by June 1. By-law enforcement officer Dick Schell informed council there already have been many inquiries about RRAP.

Tourist booth

Clerk - administrator Elinor Burke informed council the municipality's request for a travel councillor to staff the tourism booth planned this summer has been rejected. The Central Ontario Travel Association wrote that the quota of two for Haliburton County has already been filled.

Rockcliffe parking

Sergeant William Bailey of the Minden OPP detachment requested council consider a no parking zone in front of the Rockcliffe Tavern.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas said the by-law should be like that governing parking in front of the Beaver Theatre. The 24 hour no parking zone there was instituted as a fire measure. No action was taken.

Museum name

The Minden museum has been formally named and the choice has been ratified by council. Council authorised the facility to use the name Minden County Town Museum.

NEED foreman

Godfrey Saunders has been hired by council to be project manager for the NEED projects the municipality will undertake during the next year.

Pergolas said Saunders is a qualified engineer. Councillor Gary Kenney said the new manager is uniquely qualified for the project. Saunders had last worked in Lindsay, "where he did just about everything he'll be doing here."

There were 11 applications for the job.

Dump screen

The municipality is applying for $1,000 available for fill to be used at the Scotch Line landfill site. The screen or berm will be an instant method to hide the dump site from the road.

A tree barrier was suggested by councillors for long term screening.

Township considers hostel request

Willis McNeilly, operator of the senior citizen's hostel, Homewood Acres, in Snowden township, attended the regular Anson, Hindon and Minden meeting to answer questions about the facility. McNeilly is attempting to receive government funding to help support those individuals staying at the hostel.

McNeilly told council improvements are being made on the house to bring it in line with health and fire regulations, prerequisites for any funding. The basement is to be refinished, smoke detectors and a fire escape added, a larger septic system installed, a new well drilled and a new roof built. Also, an addition is planned which will increase the hostel's capacity from the present 10 (health regulations dictate seven when government funding has been granted) to 16.

"It all adds up to $20 a day," said McNeilly of the funding needed per person. With funding provided by the Ministry of Social Services at 80 per cent of the total. Anson, Hindon and Minden will be required to pay about $2 for each former resident of the municipality, each day. This figure was arrived at by calculating each resident's pension or other monies (the average resident lives on $10 per day) and funding the difference to the $20 per day goal. It also includes an arbitrary $61 per month comfort money for each resident.

Once the provincial government starts funding, regulations concerning age limit will be enforced. Also, potential residents will have to be candidates for welfare. The municipality will have the final say on residents for which it would have to pay. McNeilly said he had discussed the matter with Dysart, Snowden and Stanhope, the other municipalities participating, to determine the success the agreements were receiving.

He said Stanhope had guaranteed its approval. That township sent copies of the various agreements to its solicitor, as have Dysart and Anson, Hindon and Minden. The operator said Snowden, with only one resident in the home, is presently waiting to gauge the reactions from the other municipalities before making the first step.

McNeilly had suggested the municipalities make the agreement for funding with him rather than go through Snowden Township. He suggested it would save on paperwork for the municipality and also added that Queen's Park looks favourably on him being one of the parties involved. Anson, Hindon and Minden's solicitor advised the municipality to make the agreement with Snowden rather than McNeilly.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Councillor Pat Burk voiced her approval for the hostel. "It's a nice situation, almost one to one," she said. She liked the atmosphere created in the old farmhouse and suggested it is similar to what the residents have known throughout their lives.

Councillor Gary Kenney chimed in with his support noting the arrangement "treats seniors like people".

Council continues insurance coverage

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has given the township insurance account to Ontario-Municipal-Education (OME) subject to the Association of Municipalities in Ontario's (AMO) confirmation on the financial status of the insurance company.

Minden council considered both major insurers, OME and Frank Cowan, and invited representatives to present their coverage proposals. The municipality was insured with OME last year.

Chris Sinardo of OME tried to allay fears of council concerning the insurance company, Scottish and York, Canada. Council had received information that the company was not financially secure. Sinardo invited the council to check with the inspector of insurance and AMO.

Sinardo informed council Scottish and York, U.S.A., is the company, completely separate from the Canadian operation the insurance agent assured, which has had the publicity surrounding massive losses.

Sinardo said the Canadian operation has had a profit for several years and revealed profits in Canada last year came to about $5.8 million.

New councillor Dave

Stevens asked about guarantees the company has to safeguard the municipality's investment against a bankruptcy.

The insurance agent replied that insurance companies are required to make a deposit against each new account received to help cover policies in the event the company ceases to do business. He also said that while his company's major competitor admittedly has more accounts, about 500 to OME's 125, only six accounts opting for the new company returned to their former insurance agent. He informed council that Metropolitan Toronto has insurance with OME as do the municipalities of Guelph, Cornwall and others. OME has the business of most hospitals across the province as well.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas was primarily concerned with the Thompson conglomerate, owners of Scottish and York, reputation for dissolving unprofitable businesses. Sinardo agreed with the statement on the reputation but pointed out Scottish and York in Canada is making a profit.

One of Councillor Garry Kenney's questions concerned the amount of coverage for council members killed while on municipal business.

He told Sinardo Frank Cowan insurance paid the family $25,000 usually without question.

Sinardo said in the case of accidental death a report is compiled by police investigating the matter. The decision to honour a claim is largely based on that report.

He also said the $100,000 his company gives is "a more realistic amount" for a family to depend on while rearranging their lives.

An aspect of both insurance companies which concerned Pergolas is the inability to give the council any idea of next year's premiums.

Men teachers want one group

A concerted effort to break down barriers that separate men and women's teachers organizations at the public school level is being mounted by the Ontario Public School Men Teachers' Federation (OPSMTF). The drive to amalgamate the mens group and the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario (FWTAO) was brought to Minden last week by OPSMTF first vice president Menno Vorster. He spoke at the annual meeting of the local OPSMTF.

Vorster described the separation of the two groups as having weakened public school teacher's response to provincial changes in education policy. "There is a crisis in education funding in Ontario," Vorster commented. "The province is withdrawing financial support for education and transferring it onto local taxpayers. Teachers should be lobbying as a single group to fight this," he averred. Vorster said a single representative body could fight to improve the quality of education, a goal he admits is everyone's, though the men's and women's often approach it from different perspectives.

According to Vorster, the separation of male and female teachers in Ontario dates back to the Second World War when, under provincial legislation, the two organizations were first created. At that time, the groups were mainly social, however, the fact that two organizations existed separated on sexual lines, helped to reinforce a commonly held attitude toward teachers which saw men promoted to supervisory positions while women were paid less for the same amount of work and passed over in promotion consideration. While pay differentials have been eliminated and more female teachers are being given greater responsibility, the fact the teachers are represented by separate organizations appears to extend those discriminatory practices.

As Vorster sees it, women teachers would have the most to gain by forming a single group, since female teachers still outnumber men teachers. "It seems strange then that OPSMTF is pushing for amalgamation," Vorster said. "By creating one representative body, we would help to break down any discriminatory attitudes which still exist."

The FWTO has rejected

this idea, however. According to Vorster, the group sees a certain level of protection which is available within their own organization. It is felt as well that a separate organization could represent the women's interests, in regard to promotion, training and women's issues, better than a single group.

Vorster disagrees and so does outgoing president of the local OPSMTF, Glen Carter. He noted that the men and women's groups have acted in a co-operative fashion in a number of areas. "We have established joint committees on salary negotiations, professional development and political education," Carter explained. He noted the two local groups held their first joint business meeting earlier this spring. It would appear the reluctance which keeps the provincial organizations apart, is not as strong locally. "The writing is on the wall," Carter commented, referring to the eventuality of the two groups getting together.

When will it happen? Menno feels it is probably years away. He says there is some possibility that a reaction of Canada's new Charter of Rights, which comes into effect in 1985, could be used to force the uniting of the two groups. In the meantime, according to Vorster, Ontario public school teachers will continue to belong to separate organizations. As he points out, it is the only jurisdiction in North America in which men and women teachers working in the same schools, belong to separate representative organizations.

WHEN THEY LOSE TIME, PEOPLE LOSE LIVES.

In an emergency, time is a precious commodity and every second counts.

So when you hear the siren or see the flashing light of a fire truck, ambulance or police car, remember that lives may be at stake and obey the following regulations:

- ◇ Always bring your vehicle to a stop as close as possible to the side of the road and clear of any intersection.
- ◇ Do not follow a responding fire department vehicle within 150 metres (500 feet).

THE TIME THEY SAVE MAY SAVE LIVES.

Quilters mark 25 years

For 25 years now a group of Minden and area women have been getting together once a month to sew and quilt. If this year's production is any indication, during the past quarter century the group has turned out some 250 quilts of varying styles and sizes.

The group was started by Mrs. Amos Brubacher and, even though she has moved away from Minden, they continue to meet on a regular basis. The last meeting of the sewing circle, they forego the meetings in the summer months, was held last week. At that time the members of the group examined the year's work and prepared to offer the quilts for sale to the public.

During their 25 years the group has donated funds raised through their sewing to a number of charitable causes. Funds have been given to the Gideon Society, Hyland Crest and other local groups. As well, the group always keeps a number of quilts or blankets on hand to give to families who are burned out of their homes.

Members of that first sewing group who gathered in 1957 included Louella Brubacher, Grandma Walker, Annie Walker, Bertha Dudman, Gladys Stamp, Janie Kent, Mary McKelvey, Fannie Kirkwood, Maude Page, Florence Shantz, Francis Krick, Ruth Schmidt and Lillie Hogg. Many others have been a part of the group through the years. Some would attend for a few meetings while others took a more active and involved role participating until they moved away or their health failed.

A minute book, started with the first meeting 25 years ago records the activities of the group, the donations made over the years and interesting details of the gatherings.

The sale of this year's work, ten quilts in all, has now started. According to Mrs. Mervin Bunker, the quilts are of various sizes from crib to full double bed. The quilts can be seen at the Bunker residence north of Minden. Those wishing to see the quilts are requested to call ahead first. The number is 286-1417.

Authority appoints member

Patricia C. Chester of Lindsay has been appointed to the Victoria - Haliburton Housing Authority, Municipal Affairs and Housing Minister Claude Bennett announced May 6.

Chester, a secretary with the County of Victoria Planning Department, will serve as a provincial representative on the eight-member authority which manages Ontario Housing Corporation's 465 assisted housing units in Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon, Minden, Haliburton and Omemece.

The federal, provincial and municipal governments nominate individuals for appointment to the housing authorities by provincial orders-in-council. The province appoints the housing authority chairman.

The day-to-day management of all of OHC's 94,000 housing units is carried out by local housing authorities, although the primary responsibility for assisted housing remains with OHC.

OHC chairman Allan Moses said: "By volunteering their time to serve on the local housing authority, private citizens such as Chester are helping to ensure that Ontario's assisted program is sensitive and can respond to the needs of the many communities it serves."

The Victoria-Haliburton Housing Authority manages 365 senior citizen assisted housing units and 100 units for low-income families.

The authority also provides housing for physically-disabled and mentally-retarded persons who are capable of living on their own.

senior league

Sorry to miss the service in the chapel Sunday night, if you don't go to church on Sunday, the day doesn't seem just right. We had our family call, it being Mother's day, so when it came to service time I was ready to hit the hay. Our president of the Residents' council, Edith Welch and vice president Lola Prentice went to Toronto to a senior's seminar, Lola's son and wife took them there by car. We hope they had a real nice time no matter where they go, they met a lot of Seniors from across Ontario.

We have three university students working here at Hyland Crest, Stephanie, Neil and Tara. We hope they will like it here, we wish them all the best.

Linda is here all by herself to see that everything goes, doing a real good job of it too, while her sister is indisposed.

Tuesday morning, Rev. Wicks of the Minden Gospel Church conducted a most interesting service. It was a beautiful day. He spoke on repentance in a very impressive way. Our faithfuls came again to sing and play.

We welcome Beth and Fred Parker back again, after being south since I don't remember when. We have Joan Kernohan back from a week's holiday, we always miss Joan when she is away. John Stewart has sold his home just below the hill, I asked what will you do with the money John, and he said "I may leave it in my will."

We have changed our games time from Wednesday night to Tuesday afternoon, when you get tired of playing games you can sit and spoon.

Tuesday night, Crowe, Deacon and Payne came to Hyland Crest to entertain again. They played and sang some Scottish songs that was really fine. Daryl sang some love songs and we had a jolly time.

The ladies are making dolls and toys for the July bazaar and there are cute wee rocking chairs made by Teddy Carr.

The Carnarvon UCW, we call the faithful four, brought in a lovely lunch on Thursday, what could we ask for more.

I think I have told our readers how we are truly blest and how well we are cared for at Hyland Crest. Each Wednesday evening the orderly gives me a real good bath in the downstairs tub, then the nurse comes in and says "would you like a rub?" This completed she says we are busy as can be, but we'll be down again to bring you pills and tea.

The bingo was put on Thursday night by members of the Kinsmen Club who did the call just right. We appreciate your coming each Thursday night.

Friday morning instead of fun and fitness, Linda had a most interesting movie for us to witness. It was called "The Count of Monte Cristo" we want to thank Linda for all the trouble bringing us this show. We went Friday afternoon to help with the sing-song, we just got nicely started when company came along. We were sorry to have to leave, we like to keep in touch, this is something we enjoy very much.

P.S. Viola Deumo said that she won six bingos on Thursday night.

The best little warehouse in Haliburton!!

around the county town

by Yvonne Guida

Dear Readers—there are times when I cannot reach all of you, although I try, however, I would appreciate it if you would contact me with any news of interest you would care to contribute to our newspaper. I can be reached at 286-2539.

On Tuesday evening, last, the members of the Legion held a special service for my aunt Ida, Lieutenant R.N., at the Gordon Monk Funeral Home. It was most moving and impressive with Sylvia Sisson and Lloyd Johnson reading prayers, following which the last post and reveille was sounded. It was a beautiful tribute to my aunt.

On behalf of my father and myself, we would like to express our deep gratitude and appreciation to the dedicated nurses at Sunnybrook Military Hospital, Gordon Monk, the Reverend George Elliott, Dennis Dolloff, Melissa Stephens, Members of the Legion, Pallbearers, Lloyd Johnson, Donald Finn, Earl Hewitt, Keith Branigan, Mel Robinson, Holly Sisson, the ladies of ACW, especially Joyce Hewitt and all our friends for their kindness and help in the recent bereavement of my aunt Ida Noice. Thank you all most sincerely.

The first of the Thursday afternoon Museum Card Parties was at the Common Room of the Library Cultural Centre on May 12. Wintario tickets went to winners for cribbage, Lil Porter and for Euchre high to Betty Harper. Irene Houghton won out on a cut over Diane Warnes for most lone hands. See you next Thursday at 1:30.

I am sorry to report that Clair Brooks of Lutterworth Pines is ailing. All good wishes for a speedy recovery.

I am also sorry that a good friend, Mary Maidens is at present a patient in Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay. Get well soon Mary, all your friends miss you.

I will be interviewed again on station CFMX-FM and AM, FM is 103 point one and AM is CHUC 1450, on Friday, May 20th at 1 p.m. Anyone interested may hear the program on these channels. FM broadcasts the program on Sunday.

Bill Longman and friend Ruth of Toronto, spent the past weekend at their cottage at Maple Lake.

Friends and acquaintances of Maple Lake and surrounding district were saddened to learn of the death of Mr. Wes Crawford of Boskung Lake. Our condolences to the members of his family.

Mrs. John Kuchelema of Toronto, stayed with her daughter and husband, Debbie and Danny McKelvey of Minden last week for a visit.

Great Uncle, Elmer Harrison, of Maple Lake is happy to announce that on his birthday, May 3rd his great nephew, Jesse Elwood, a lovely baby boy was born to Debbie and Danny McKelvey of Minden. The baby was born in Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay, and weighed eight pounds at birth. Shane now has a brother, and we wish all the happy family best wishes on this occasion. I would like to add Mother and baby are doing very well and hopefully Daddy Dan will be completely recovered by the time this goes to press.

Correction from last week: Rev. George Elliott accepted 6 - $100 bills ($600) as proceeds from the Thursday Mini Card Parties.

The Elmer Harrison's spent Mother's day weekend in Toronto at her son's home where they had a delightful family gathering. Son, Harry flew home from Malta and everyone had a wonderful time.

A week ago, last Saturday evening, a lovely come and go party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barjarrow of Maple Lake, on the occasion of their 30th wedding anniversary. Their two daughters, Sharon Harding and Cathy Castle were their parents' hostesses. A delicious dinner was enjoyed by the family and in the evening, friends called to wish the happy couple all the best. From all your friends of Maple Lake and surrounding district, may we join in wishing Elaine and Frank, many more happy years together.

This Saturday and Sunday, I again had the pleasure and privilege of participating in a continuing course on Parapsychology given at the Sir Sir Sanford Fleming College in Haliburton, by June Mewhort. This is a fascinating study given by a very knowledgeable and astute young woman. She is certainly well versed on her subject which provides much food for thought. Anyone interested in this project has much to gain by attending her classes. I do hope another course will be forthcoming.

I am sorry to report the deaths of Mr. Leeman Nixon of Haliburton, Mr. Hugh Alton, of Minden, Mr. Wesley Crawford, R.R. 2, Minden, Mr. Ernest Davies, R.R. 2, Minden, and Mr. Frank Schrader of Haliburton. Our deepest sympathy to their family and friends.

There will be free movies for children shown this Friday in the Common Room of the Minden Cultural Centre from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m. All are welcome.

Ann Rockory and Florence Schlosser were given a delicious surprise dinner by the residents of the Sunrise Apartments prior to their departure for England and Scotland a week ago, Saturday night. As I understand it, everyone went all out to give them a great bon voyage party. Wish we could be in your suitcases Ann and Florence.

The ACW will hold their annual bake sale this coming Saturday, May 21st, starting at 10:00 a.m. The bake sale will be held in the building adjacent to the Imperial Bank of Commerce. Come early for the great treats offered.

At the monthly meeting of the ACW last Tuesday, Marg and Len Lonsberry showed their slides of the Holy Land. The program was audio-visual which was of great interest to everyone attending.

Via the grapevine, some of my correspondents tell me that a very nice gal, Wendy Davis celebrated her 20th birthday with a lunch at a local restaurant last Thursday. Helping her celebrate the event were Anita, Cheryl, Susan and LeAnne. Many, many happy returns Wendy and best wishes from us all.

In keeping with my friend's, June Mewhort and Helen Plinkiewicz's philosophies, there are mysteries within the soul which no hypothesis can uncover and no guess can reveal. I thank them both for their astuteness, their help and understanding.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Some have hidden words or sayings, some do not. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun.

If any of you kids have jokes you would like to share, please send them to me care of the paper. I would be pleased to include them.

Q: How can you prove that a horse has six legs?

A: He has four legs (forelegs) in front and two legs behind.

Q: How did the ant feel when it was shot out of a tailpipe of the car?

A: Exhausted.

Q: How do you get into a graveyard at night?

A: Use a skeleton key.

Q: Why can't a nose be twelve inches long?

A: Then it would be a foot.

Q: Why is a barn so noisy?

A: Because the cows have horns.

Q: Why does time fly?

A: Because people are always trying to kill it.

Q: Why did the jelly roll?

A: Because it saw the apple turnover.

Bye for now. Take it easy. God bless till next time.

IN MEMORIAM

Adolf Alzner - who passed away May 15, 1982.

I Do Not Sleep

Do not stand at my grave and weep;
I am not there, I do not sleep.
I am a thousand winds that blow.
I am the diamond glints on the snow.
I am the sunlight on ripened grain.
I am the gentle springtime rain.

When you awaken in the morning rush,
I am the swift uplifting rush
Of quiet birds in the circled flight.
I am the soft stars that shine at night.
Do not stand at my grave and cry,
I am not there, I did not die.
Never to be forgotten by son Heinz, daughter-in-law Joanne and grandsons Jon and David.
